

A diagram illustrating a black box model. A central square box represents the system. An arrow labeled "input" points into the box from the left. An arrow labeled "output" points out of the box from the bottom.

